ryanLewisDesign.com

Since graduating in 2011 with a degree in Communication Design, I have had the privilege of working on a variety of projects for many different businesses using a broad range of mediums. I have led a brand redesign of an entire church - using print, web, video, apparel, and editorial. I have worked on all levels of a team, holding a leadership role as Creative Director, and in assisting roles such as taking the junior designer position for tasks. I've done album artwork, concept development, web-design, personal branding, and maintained a consistent design communication for the projects I work on. I am eager to learn new things about design, and I am an extremely hard worker. I am passionate about connecting what my client needs and wants for their business into a visual communication to their target audience.
